The Naungan Kasih Hybrid Positive Parenting Programme was informed by recommendations from the assessment of the Belaian Kasih (young children from birth to 13 years of age), Mutiara Kasih (adolescent), and Naungan Kasih (for ages 0 to 18) parenting training modules for parents and caregivers in Malaysia, as well as analysis of learning from evidence-based parenting programmes and current best practice, such as described by Professor Frances Gardner in the WHO guidelines on parenting interventions to prevent maltreatment and enhance parent–child relationships with children aged 0–17 years, the UNICEF Innocenti Research Brief 2017-10 and UNICEF, and the WHO’s Seven Strategies to End Violence Against Children in low- and middle-income countries. We are also grateful to new contributions by LPPKN and KEMAS in selected modules of the Naungan Kasih Hybrid Positive Parenting Programme.

The structure and content of this current programme were drawn and adapted from the three parenting modules as well as the following key resource materials:

Programme Overview

1.1 Welcome

Welcome to the Naungan Kasih Positive Parenting Programme!

This manual is designed to support you as a facilitator of the Naungan Kasih Positive Parenting Hybrid Programme. It serves as your practical guide to delivering the programme alongside the Naungan Kasih App (Naungan Kasih). It includes:

- Step-by-step instructions for running the programme.
- Guidance on introducing the programme to caregivers and providing ongoing support.
- Details on the programme's content, structure, and delivery.

Use this manual alongside your training to help you facilitate with confidence.

Remember, HOW you facilitate matters most. Delivering the content is only about 20% of the programme's success. The other 80% depends on HOW you facilitate—your attitude, your empathy, and how you connect with and support parents throughout their journey.

1.2 Introduction

Naungan Kasih is a family strengthening programme for families with children ages 2 to 6. It is designed to be delivered to parents through a combination of in-person sessions, online support groups, and curriculum delivered via chatbot.

The core theme in Naungan Kasih is “Building a Home of Love and Support for You and Your Child.” By helping parents build a home of support for themselves and their children, you help them manage their children's behaviour whilst promoting healthy

Your Success Is Determined By...

Delivering the content as prescribed

HOW you deliver the content

parent-child relationships. To better understand how the Naungan Kasih programme was developed, please refer to Appendix A. Journey of Naungan Kasih in Malaysia.

This manual is a guide for you to deliver the programme. It is expected that you will have attended a facilitator training in programme delivery prior to delivering the programme.

1.3 Goals

The overall goal of Naungan Kasih is to provide parents with the skills to promote healthy child development, learning, and wellbeing. We achieve this goal by improving the following:

- Parent sense of responsibility and commitment: Recognise and embrace their essential role in raising children.
- Parenting knowledge, skill, and sense of competence: Gaining practical skills and confidence in parenting
- Parent knowledge in child development: Understanding key stages of child development and age-appropriate needs.
- Parent involvement in child learning and education: Actively supporting learning at home and in school.
- Positive parenting behaviour: Encouraging nurturing, respectful, and supportive interactions.
- Positive, consistent discipline strategies: Using calm, constructive, and consistent discipline.
- Parental supervision of children: Ensuring safe, attentive, and appropriate supervision.
- Child behaviour and wellbeing: Promoting healthy emotional and social development.
- Caregiver mental health and social support: Enhancing wellbeing through community support and self-care.
- Involvement of male caregivers: Promoting active, positive participation of male caregivers.

PART TWO:

Quick Start Guide

2.1 How Naungan Kasih is Delivered

The Naungan Kasih programme is delivered as a 'hybrid' programme, in three ways:

1. Naungan Kasih App: the main component of the programme.
2. In-person session: the onboarding session you will deliver to parents. For more information on how to deliver the in-person session, please refer to 4.1 In-Person Session Delivery.
3. Online support group: via WhatsApp that you will facilitate with the help of FaciNK - an app designed to help facilitators like YOU deliver the programme.

Here is an overview of support that parents will receive:

2.2 Naungan Kasih App (Naungan Kasih)

The main component of the programme is Naungan Kasih, an app that delivers parenting content to participants over an eight-week period.

To join Naungan Kasih App:

1. Download Naungan Kasih App from the Apple App Store or Google Play Store.

Apple App Store

Google Play Store

2. Login to Naungan Kasih App with Apple or Google.
3. Answer the onboarding questions. This will help Naungan Kasih App create a tailored programme for you!
 - a. If you are single (not in a relationship) and divorced or separated, you are encouraged to select “Married” so you can experience all eight courses.
 - b. If you have a child aged 2 to 6 years, try including them. This will help you apply what you learn and observe real-life changes.
 - i. If you do not have a child aged 2 to 6 years, imagine having a child in that age range. This allows you to fully experience the Naungan Kasih App learning journey.
 - c. Select “Facilitator” as your role.

Note:

Please keep your Naungan Kasih App updated so that you always have the latest features, resources, and content.

Courses and Skills

Naungan Kasih App is structured around eight parenting courses, each supported by three to six parenting skills, delivered as daily lessons that parents can complete towards their courses. Here is an overview of the courses and skills in Naungan Kasih App:

Courses	Skills
Relationship with My Child	• One-on-One Time • Kindness to Self • Give Praise • Feelings • Parenting Values
Success in School	• Language skills • Reading • Maths • Talk to Teachers
How Children Grow	• Child Development • Play & Learn • Life Lessons
Give Structure	• Manage Stress • Keep it Positive • Daily Routines • Family Rules • Roles at Home
Positive Behaviour	• Manage Anger • Misbehaviour • Manage Demands • Consequences • Problem Solving
Safety and Health	• Safe Touch • Stay Safe

	• Crises • Online Safety • Online Habits • Nutrition and Health
Relationship with My Spouse	• Respect Each Other • Team Parenting • Teamwork • Resolve Conflicts • Talk and Listen
Budget and Savings	• Needs and Wants • Expenses • Budgeting • Savings

All skills have a similar structure and include:

- A simple relaxation activity to help parents feel calm and ready to learn.
- A short check-in to notice and reflect on how they are feeling.
- A short quiz to spark participants' interest (for most skills).
- A comic illustrating relatable parent-child scenarios to help participants connect with the skill in context.
- Key tips that explain how to apply the new skill. Participants can choose to receive these tips in text, audio, and/or video, depending on their literacy level and data preferences.
- A home activity assignment that encourages participants to practise the new skill at home.

Additional Features

Safeguarding

Safeguarding means protecting people's health, well-being, and human rights, ensuring they can live free from harm, abuse, and neglect. Everyone you come into contact with—regardless of age, gender identity, disability, sexual orientation, religious or ethnic origin—has the right to be protected from all forms of harm, abuse, and exploitation.

Naungan Kasih App includes contact details of where to access professional or urgent help (e.g., police, ambulance, hotline) and information on local support resources and hotlines to further support self-referral for users.

TIP:

For safeguarding support, please refer to My Resources.

Learning Through Play Activities

Learning Through Play (LTP) Activities are playful activities that parents can complete with their children to spend one-on-one time. For a list of activities, please refer to Play in My Resources.

2.3 FaciNK

FaciNK is your digital companion to help you deliver the programme and support parents online. It is an app that will help do the following — all in one place!

- Manage Online Support Group sessions via WhatsApp
- Share weekly content with ease
- Track participant engagement.

For more information on FaciNK can support you, please refer to 4.2 Online Support Group Management.

Why FaciNK?

- Keep parents engaged effortlessly: With pre-drafted messages ready to share, you can reach parents consistently while focusing on what matters most — supporting them.
- Understand parents better: The reports you complete help identify what parents need, so you can provide the right support at the right time.
- Built with you and for you: FaciNK has been improved with feedback from facilitators like you! This collective effort ensures the app is created with you, for you, to better serve parents.

To download your digital companion, click on the relevant icons below:

Google Play Store

Note:

Please keep your FaciNK updated so that you always have the latest features, resources, and content.

PART THREE:

Training Guide

3.1 Structure

To prepare you to deliver the Naungan Kasih hybrid programme, you will receive training through three main modes:

- Online Sessions: You will participate in three live sessions via an online meeting platform (e.g., Zoom or Google Meet). These sessions offer an overview of the programme, practical guidance, and opportunities for real-time interaction and discussion.
- Self-Learning: You will complete assigned learning modules independently and at your own pace. This format allows for deeper reflection and a stronger grasp of key concepts.
- In-Person Session: A face-to-face session focuses on building facilitation skills through interactive practice, role-plays, and peer feedback, ensuring that you are prepared for programme delivery.

Here is an overview of the training you will receive. For more information on your training and guidance, please refer to Appendix B. Facilitator Training Workshop.

3.2 Becoming an Effective Facilitator

General Skills

Key skills that you will need to support you as a facilitator are:

- Understanding child development: Having basic knowledge of how young children grow, learn, and behave helps you relate to parents' experiences and guide them with age-appropriate strategies.
- Praising and encouraging parents: Parents are more likely to stay engaged and try new things when they feel seen and appreciated. Acknowledge their efforts, even small ones, to build confidence and motivation.
- Using active listening: Show parents you are truly listening by giving them your full attention. Apply Accept-Explore-Connect-Practice (A-E-C-P) to facilitate your discussion with parents.
- Being consistent and compassionate: Parents feel safe and respected when you respond with warmth and fairness. Stay calm, be supportive, and follow through on what you say.
- Exploring challenges together: Help parents feel they are not alone. Invite them to talk about what's difficult, and work together to understand the root of the problem without judgment.
- Practising simple, practical solutions: Brainstorm solutions with parents. Focus on realistic solutions that parents can use in daily life.

When facilitating, always go at the parents' pace when delivering the programme. Make sure they understand the current content before introducing something new. This may mean spending extra time addressing challenges or problem-solving during sessions, and that's okay.

To better support your role as a facilitator and learn more about child development, please refer to Domains and Stages of Child Development in your Companion Guide.

Modelling Behaviour

The modelling principle is at the heart of how you deliver Naungan Kasih. The way you work with parents shapes how they will work with their children.

- If you lead with collaboration, praise, active listening, and positive instructions, parents are more likely to do the same at home.
- If you criticise, ignore, or focus only on what not to do, they may mirror that behaviour too.

In many ways, you are modelling for parents the way you hope they will parent their children—and it works!

Participatory Approach to Learning

Unlike programmes where facilitators simply tell participants what to do, Naungan Kasih uses a participatory approach.

As facilitators, you are partners—working alongside parents to help them identify solutions and build on what they already do well. Parents are the experts on their own children and lives.

Your role is to guide parents to discover how to complete their courses through open-ended questions, helping them understand the benefits of positive parenting and nonviolent discipline. When parents learn this way, the skills they gain are more likely to last long after the programme ends.

Make Naungan Kasih a Happy Place to Learn

Everyone enjoys a warm, welcoming space. Here are simple tips to make Naungan Kasih a happy place to learn:

- Invite participation: Notice when someone is holding back and ask if he or she wishes to share an opinion or experience.
- Be heard: Make sure everyone can hear you and each other.
- Sit together: Stay on the same level—sit with parents, not in front of them.
- Create comfort: Ensure the room is clean, with enough chairs, good ventilation, and even decorations if you like.
- Use the right language: Check that parents are comfortable with your use of language.
- Show respect: Listen without judgment and respect all contributions. Laugh with parents, not at them.
- Praise, praise, praise: Recognise parents' efforts and dedication.
- Model behaviour: Treat parents the way you'd like them to treat their children—through praise, respect, and encouragement.
- Use energisers: This keeps sessions fun and interactive. For more information, please refer to In-Person Tips in the Companion Guide.

Tip:

Take note if participants have physical challenges or disabilities that may require adjusting the way they participate in the session.

Accept, Explore, Connect, and Practice (A-E-C-P)

The Accept, Explore, Connect, and Practice (A-E-C-P) method is the main facilitation technique used in the delivery of the Naungan Kasih programme. It involves active listening, collaborative facilitation, building self-awareness, emphasising core principles, and allowing opportunities to practise skills.

For more information, please refer to A-E-C-P: Accept, Explore, Connect and Practice in the Companion Guide.

PART FOUR:

Programme Delivery Guide

4.1 Onboarding Session Delivery

The Onboarding Session sets the tone for the entire Naungan Kasih programme. It is important to create a warm, welcoming, and safe environment where participants feel comfortable and supported.

This session also helps families become familiar with using Naungan Kasih App and joining the Online Support Group via WhatsApp.

During the onboarding session, you want to accomplish 5 things:

1. Introduce Naungan Kasih App to participants.
2. Establish ground rules for the interaction with Naungan Kasih App and Online Support Group.
3. Guide participants through the Naungan Kasih App Welcome Flow to ensure they understand how to use their phones for programme activities.
4. Practise One-on-One time with participants through role-play.
5. Assign home activities for parents to complete after the session.

Remember that the parents are the experts, and you are the guide!

Before the Session

Be Well Prepared

It is important to be well prepared. Good preparation shows respect for parents and helps you give them the best support. Ensure that you:

- Read this manual. It has everything you need to deliver the programme.
- Familiarise yourself with Naungan Kasih Courses and Skills.
- Practise the onboarding session and key parts of the programme, ideally with a partner.

- Check your technology: have your phone charged, internet secure, and a back-up plan in case of any technical issues.
- Prepare materials and venues in advance.

Create Your Online Support Group

Please create a WhatsApp group before the onboarding session. You can follow these instructions:

1. Save parents' names and WhatsApp numbers (if available) on your phone, so you can confirm details during the in-person session.
2. Create your WhatsApp group with a temporary name and icon. You can keep the temporary name or update it once the group agrees on a name.

The group name should be in this format:

“Naungan Kasih_[GROUP NAME]”.

For example, “Naungan Kasih_HappyFamilies”

Understand One-on-One Time

One of the key skills that parents are introduced to during the in-person session is “One-on-One Time”. Before the session, please refer to One-on-One Time in the Companion Guide and learn about what it is, why it is important and tips you can share with parents.

For guidance for parents on communicating with children with disabilities, please refer to How to Support Parents who have Children with Disabilities in the Companion Guide. This resource may be shared with parents who have children with disabilities to support their parenting journey.

Preparation of Materials for the Onboarding Session

- Adhesive tape, pens, paper, flipchart, light refreshments (if applicable)
- Mobile phone
- Wi-Fi connection
- Screen and projector

Other Preparations for the Onboarding Session

- Arrange the room with chairs in a circle.
- Prepare materials and light refreshments for the break (if applicable).
- Prepare name tags for parents (you can use masking tape as name tags).

- Ensure that the venue has a stable Wifi or internet connection.

During the Session

Session Agenda

Activity	Sub-Activities	Duration
1. Pre-Session Registration	• Collection of name and phone numbers • Refreshments	30 min
2. Welcome	• Name Game • Introducing to Naungan Kasih programme (incl. Naungan Kasih App and WhatsApp groups) • Setting Up Group Rules	20 min
3. Start with Naungan Kasih App	• Introduction to Phone Use • Getting into Naungan Kasih App • Resolving challenges with Naungan Kasih App • Additional Ground Rules for Naungan Kasih App	30 min
4. Spending 1-on-1 Time with Your Children	• Naungan Kasih Course & Questions • Naungan Kasih Comic • Discussion: One-on-One Time with Your Child • Group Discussion: Activities to do with your Child • Practising skills • Tips and Home Activity	50 min
5. Closing	• Reflection • Identifying the Next Course in Naungan Kasih App • Goodbye Activity	10 min

Activity 1. Pre-Session Registration (30 min)

1. Prepare a registration form (paper or digital) with the following fields:
 - a. Full name of the parent or caregiver.
 - b. Phone number (ensure the number is linked to WhatsApp).
 - c. Any additional relevant information, if needed.
2. Explain to parents that this information will be used solely for programme-related communication and support.
3. Participants should be instructed to write their names on their name tags.
4. Ensure the information collected is accurate.

Activity 2. Welcome (20 min)

Welcome parents warmly and enthusiastically when they arrive at the session. Praise them for coming to the programme!

Once all the participants have arrived, you can formally welcome the group to the onboarding session of Naungan Kasih. \(Slide 2\)

Name Game (5 min)

Overview

This game helps the participants get to know each other.

Instructions \(Slide 3\)

1. Group stands in a circle.
 2. One person says his/her name and makes a shape.
 3. The entire circle then repeats that person's name and makes the same shape.
 4. The person sitting next to them says their name and makes a shape.
 5. Repeat for everyone in the circle!

Introduction to the Naungan Kasih Programme (5 min)

Overview

This activity provides an overall picture of the Naungan Kasih programme with Naungan Kasih App. It is like giving a map of the journey that the families travel on together over the next few weeks.

Instructions (Slide 4-6)

1. Aims and Benefits of Naungan Kasih Programme

Share the aims and benefits of being part of the Naungan Kasih Programme with the parents.

The Naungan Kasih programme is for parents who have children between 2 to 6 years old.

Now, when we say, 'parents' and 'parenting', we mean someone who is caring for the children, whether that person is their biological parent or not. This includes any person who is a primary caregiver, responsible for the wellbeing of the child.

The goal of Naungan Kasih is to help build open, caring and trusting relationships between caregivers and their children. When we have healthy and positive relations, they help parents to keep their children safe and support their growth and development.

Positive parenting also helps parents teach their children responsible behaviour, respectful behaviour and instil parenting values.

2. Main components of the Naungan Kasih Programme

Explain that participants will receive Naungan Kasih Hybrid content and support in three main ways:

1. Naungan Kasih App: For more information, please refer to 2.1 Naungan Kasih App (Naungan Kasih).
 2. In-Person Session: For more information, please refer to 4.1 In-Person Session Delivery.
 3. Online Support Group: For more information, please refer to 4.2 Online Support Group.

Setting Up Ground Rules (10 min)

Overview

Establish Ground Rules to help make the programme a safe place to learn together. It is important that the group sets ground rules on how they will ensure that their time and experiences in the programme together are fruitful. These rules should be developed as a group and owned by the group.

Ground rules are also useful for helping you to run these sessions as a facilitator. They can be helpful when reminding participants that they created the rules for how the sessions should be run.

Instructions \(Slide 7\)

Ask the participants to think what is important to them to feel comfortable, respected, feel safe and supported in the group.

When discussing Ground Rules, you can use the following format:

- Put up one flipchart paper and write at the top:
 - Ground rules for Naungan Kasih Hybrid Parenting Programme
- Ask participants to share their suggestions.
- Write rules and comments on the flip chart to keep for later reference. Here are some tips:
 - Make sure Ground Rules describe a positive behaviour.
 - For example, use “Speak kindly and respectfully to others”, instead of “Don’t make fun of others”.
 - Prompt for rules on specific issues like cell phone use, respect, etc.
 - Repeat back what you hear and explore the rules to make sure everyone in the group agrees and understands.
 - For example, if someone mentions “Respect”, ask what that means to her or him. What sort of behaviour shows “Respect”?
 - Make sure everyone agrees and has the opportunity to contribute before moving on to another suggestion.
- When the group is done creating all ground rules, ask if everyone agrees to them before proceeding. If not, discuss and ensure that everyone agrees to all rules.

Some helpful ground rules may include:

You can add these after the participants have shared their own rules (now or later in the session when participants learn more about the programme components).

- Commit to participating in the activities and discussions of the programme.
- Reach out and ask for help if you have any challenges, or need support or guidance.
- Ensure you have the necessary resources or data to do the daily Naungan Kasih activities and participate in the chat group.
- Respect the privacy of personal information, pictures and videos shared in the group.
- Respect each other by listening, paying attention, and taking turns when sharing your thoughts or experiences.
- Everyone is different and will have different experiences to share.
- What we say in the group, stays in the group – both in-person and online.
- Share only what you feel comfortable to share.
- Feel free to ask any questions!

Activity 3. Start with Naungan Kasih App (30 min)

This activity will help participants understand the basics of how to operate a mobile phone (if they cannot do that already). They will also start their interaction with Naungan Kasih App. This will give them the opportunity to share their first experiences and resolve any challenges.

Introduction to Phone Use (5 min)

Overview

Some participants may know more about how to use their phone than others. Try to identify the gaps and provide specific support as needed. This will enable more parents to access Naungan Kasih App content.

Instructions \(Slide 8\)

To make this activity interactive, ask participants to demonstrate the following to the group (and correct/guide as needed):

1. Switching the phone on and off

Show participants:

- How to turn the phone on and off. Clearly point out the three buttons on the side (on/off, volume up/down).
- Where and how to insert a sim card and ensure that it is properly working once the phone is switched on.
- Talk about sim card PIN and how your sim card can get blocked if the PIN is not entered correctly.

2. Navigating through the phone settings

Show participants:

- How to increase and reduce phone brightness.
- How to install and uninstall apps.
- How to take and share screenshots (this is key when they experience technical issues).

3. Navigating through WhatsApp settings

Remind participants that they will receive their Online Group Support via WhatsApp.
Show participants:

- How to find and open WhatsApp.
- How to open images.
- How to open audio/video files.

4. Charging the phone

- Show how to properly insert the phone charger to avoid breaking the charging system.
- Emphasise the importance of disconnecting the phone from the charger once it is fully charged to avoid overcharging.
- Use the original phone charger to charge the phone.

5. Switching data bundle on and off

- Show participants how to turn data on and off. Point out the change in the status bar when the data is on or off (the H+/3G/4G/5G on the network bar).
- Emphasise that data should not be left on non-stop, to minimise data bundle use and optimise battery use.
- Show participants how to check data bundle balance and/or data bundle usage.

6. Managing internal phone storage

Ensure participants understand that apps, videos, music, and images all take up space on a phone, and that their phone will not function properly when it is full.

Show participants how to free up storage space if needed by:

- Deleting files such as videos, audios, images, etc.
- Uninstalling apps

7. Digital awareness: Internet safety

Discuss the risks of clicking on phishing and suspicious internet links.

Ensure that participants understand that specific personal information should not be shared with unknown people or sources, for instance:

- Passwords
- Bank account information
- Locations
- Personal or sensitive images/videos

8. How to prevent damaging your phone

Show participants how to access the password/pattern lock to secure their phone from other unauthorised users.

Discuss how phones should be handled with care, for example:

- Keeping phones out of reach from their children
- Keeping phones away from direct sunlight
- Keeping phones away from working stations that can cause damage to the phone for instance, water, fire, etc.

Getting into Naungan Kasih App (20 min)

Overview

Participants will now have their first interaction with Naungan Kasih App on their phones.

Instructions (Slide 9-11)

Take them through the following steps and respond to any questions or challenges that come up. Ensure that everyone has completed the previous step before moving onto the next one.

Before you begin:

- Ensure that you have created a WhatsApp group with all your participants.
 - If there are some parents that do not have WhatsApp and are not yet in your group, ensure that they download WhatsApp before you begin as a group.
- Share your Group ID in the WhatsApp group by following these instructions:
 - If you have not yet created your parent group:
 - Open FaciNK.
 - Go to 'Settings'
 - Click 'Your Parent Groups'
 - Click 'Create New Group' page
 - Create your parent group with the name of your parent group.
 - Select 'Yes' if you are delivering the programme and select 'No, I am testing the app, practising or in training' if the group is for those purposes.
 - Click 'Next'
 - Click 'Add Parent to Group'
 - Click 'Copy' to copy the Group ID, or click 'Share' to share the Group ID and send it to your group in WhatsApp.
 - Click 'Save'
 - If you have already created your parent group:
 - Open FaciNK.
 - Go to 'Settings'

- Click 'Your Parent Groups' page
- Click on the pencil icon next to your parent group.
- Next, click "Share" to share the Group ID and send it to your group in WhatsApp. You can do this by clicking either of the following share buttons:

Edit Parent Group

Group Name

Group A

Are you delivering the programme?

☐ Yes

☒ No, I am testing the app, practicing or in training

Group ID

XXXX

Share icon

- Inform all your participants that they will need this during the onboarding in Naungan Kasih App.

Tip:

When parents join Naungan Kasih App, they are prompted to enter the 4-character group ID that you share with them.

When this is done, a list of all your parents will be automatically added to your parent group on FaciNK—just like this:

< Edit Parent Group

Group Name

Group A

Are you delivering the programme?

☒ Yes

☐ No, I am testing the app, practicing or in training

Group ID

XXXX

Add Parent to Group

Parent A

Parent B

What to do next?

- For each parent:
 - Click on the pencil icon to access the parent profile.
 - Add the First Name and Last Name. Click “Save”.

Parent's First Name*

First Name

Parent's Last Name*

Last Name

Common challenges when parents join your group using your Group ID include:

- If parents accidentally enter an incorrect group ID or skip the question during onboarding, parents need to re-enter the group ID. If this happens, ask parents to:
 - Go to Settings in Naungan Kasih App.
 - Click on 'Facilitator'.
 - Under 'Facilitator Group ID', enter the Group ID.
 - Click 'Update'.
- If parents enter the correct Facilitator Group ID on Naungan Kasih App but do not appear in your group on FaciNK, ensure that both your device and the parent's device are connected to the Internet and try again. If needed, ask parents re-enter the group ID:
 - Go to Settings in Naungan Kasih App.
 - Click on 'Facilitator'.
 - Under 'Facilitator Group ID', enter the Group ID.
 - Click 'Update'.

1. Start on Naungan Kasih App

Give participants the following instructions:

- Open your phone.
- Open Naungan Kasih App.
 - Choose a language.
 - Login with Apple or Google.

2. Onboarding on Naungan Kasih App

Participants are now ready to do the onboarding process. Tell participants to follow the prompts. Naungan Kasih App will ask them to:

- Choose their guide.
 - Inform participants that their guide will provide daily tips through videos and are AI-generated.
- Answer short demographic questions so Naungan Kasih App can send tailored content:
 - Short questions about themselves (name, gender, location, relationship, ethnicity)
 - Short questions about their child (name, gender, age).
- Choose their role [select 'Parent or caregiver']
- Choose where they heard about the app [select KEMAS or NGO/Community Facilitator]
- Join your Group.
 - When participants reach the question, "What is your facilitator's Group ID?", ask participants to enter their 4-character group ID that you have shared from FaciNK.

3. Taking a pause

Taking a pause is a short relaxation exercise that participants can use whenever they feel stressed or angry. This is a great parenting tool and life skill. Take a pause together.

Guide parents through this exercise as a group the first time. This helps them feel more comfortable and increases the likelihood they will continue practising it on their own. Refer to the Taking a Pause section in your Companion Guide for more information and instructions.

Parents can also refer to the “My Resources” section and select “Take a Pause” to listen to the guided audio that supports them in practising the Take a Pause exercise in Naungan Kasih App.

Resolving Challenges with Naungan Kasih App (4 min)

Overview

Participants may encounter some challenges while interacting with Naungan Kasih App.

Instructions \(Slide 12\)

Remind participants that if they have any non-urgent feedback or technical issues with Naungan Kasih App, they can provide feedback in the Settings. To do so, go through the steps together:

1. Go to Settings in Naungan Kasih App.
2. Click on ‘Feedback’ at the bottom of the Settings page.
3. Inform parents that:
 - a. They can fill in information here on:
 - i. What is happening,
 - ii. Description of the feedback or issue, and
 - iii. Where it is happening.
 - b. To submit the form, click ‘Submit Feedback’.

Note:

The feedback form in Naungan Kasih App is for non-urgent issues such as things that do not stop parents from using the app but could be improved (e.g., something confusing, unclear, or not working smoothly). If something stops parents from continuing, they should inform you immediately so that you can escalate it to your supervisor or partner organisation.

Additional Ground Rules for Naungan Kasih App (1 min)

Overview

Now that participants understand how Naungan Kasih App works, you can help them reflect on additional ground rules you can add to the list you created at the start of this session.

Instructions (Slide 13)

Come back to the flipchart with the initial list of ground rules created at the start of this session. Ask participants:

- Should any ground rules be added to our list of Naungan Kasih App ground rules?

Additional rules can include:

- Commit to doing the suggested daily Naungan Kasih App activities.
- Commit to completing all skills within a Course before choosing the next Course.
- Do the suggested home activities together with your child.

Activity 4. Spending One-on-One Time with Your Child (50 min)

Naungan Kasih Course and Questions (10 min)

Overview

Briefly introduce the main course of the core lesson to the parents. You can say something like:

“Today’s main course in Naungan Kasih App was to learn how we can build positive relationships with our children through One-on-One Time.”

Instructions (Slide 14)

1. Start Course (2 min)

Ask parents to select:

- Relationship with My Child: this is the first course.
- One-on-One Time: this is the first skill in the first course.

Inform parents that the remaining courses will be unlocked once they have completed the first course, [Relationship with My Child].

2. Relax (3 min)

Participants are now ready to start their first course.

Inform participants that every skill starts with a Relax activity.

Turn up the volume on your device, press play and complete the Relax activity together.

3. Naungan Kasih Questions (5 min)

Ask participants to follow the prompts and respond to:

- Check-in question: “How are you feeling today?”
- True or False question: When I spend special time with my child, I need to have a plan. I need to know what we will do together.”
 - This True/False question focuses on the main principle for One-on-One Time: Allowing children to take the lead during One-on-One Time.
 - Parents may disagree with the answer. You may want to ask them how their child might benefit from being able to take the lead and choose the activity during One-on-One Time.

Naungan Kasih Comic (10 min)

Overview

Ask parents to go through the comic and stop when they have seen all 4 images. This comic introduces the main principles and how parents should One-on-One Time with their children. It shows a mother, Farah, with her daughter, Mira.

The story demonstrates the core principle of Letting the Child Take the Lead, or Child-Led Play, that is central to One-on-One Time.

Instructions \(Slide 15\)

Farah: I have 5 minutes of one-on-one time to spend with you, Mira. What would you like to do?

Mira: I want to play dress up!

Farah: Wonderful idea, Mira! I see you are taking out the yellow scarf with blue stripes on it.

Mira: Ibu, it's for you.

Farah: Thank you, I love it!

Mira: Wear it Ibu!

Farah: What a big girl you are, Mira to get dressed by yourself!

1. Guided Discussion for One-on-One Time Comic

Help the parents identify the following skills from the comic that they should use during One-on-One Time:

- Get down to your child's level.
- Look at your child and notice what s/he is doing.
- Use your child's name when you speak to him or her.
- Accept what your child wants to do as long as it is a safe activity.
- Follow your child's lead during One-on-One Time
- Use words to describe what your child is doing.

Block 1 introduces the parents to how to introduce One-on-One Time to children. Use questions to guide parents to notice how the mother introduces One-on-One Time to Mira by saying to her, "I have 5 minutes to spend One-on-One Time with you, what would you like to do?" Ask the parents:

Question	Possible Responses
How does the mother introduce One-on-One Time to Mira? What does she say to Mira? How long is One-on-One Time?	• She says Mira's name. • She is at the same level as Mira. • She is looking at Mira. • She asks her what she wants to do. • She allows Mira to choose the activity.
How does Mira know how long is One-on-One Time? Why should the mother tell her how long One-on-One Time is?	• The mother tells her she has 5 minutes to spend with her. • The mother might have other things to do.

Blocks 2 to Block 3 also show how mother allows Mira to take the lead. Ask the parents:

Question	Possible Responses
What does the mother do physically to show that she is paying attention to Mira?	• She is looking at Mira. • She says her name
How does the mother allow Mira to be the leader in the activity?	• She allows Mira to choose the activity. • She accepts Mira's proposals. • She observes what Mira is doing. • She sits back and lets Mira direct what happens in One-on-One Time)

Block 3 also demonstrates how parents can use words to describe what their children are doing. Ask the parents:

Question	Possible Responses
Why do you think Mira gives her mother the scarf?	• She wants her mother to join in the activity.

Block 4 (and all the other blocks) show how children might respond to spending One-on- One Time with their parents. Ask the parents:

Question	Possible Responses
What does the mother say when Mira puts on her dress by herself?	• She uses words to describe what she sees Mira doing.
How does Mira feel when spending One-on-One Time with her mother?	• Mira is happy. • She feels loved. • She feels important. • She feels appreciated. • She feels confident. • Mira feels close to her mother.

Tip:

Ask open-ended questions to help parents answer these questions themselves. Your job is to ask questions. Parents need to come up with answers themselves!

Discussion: One-on-One Time with Your Child (5 min)

Instructions \(Slide 16\)

Ask participants to finish the skill:

- Watch the video on One-on-One Time,
- Read the 3 tips on DAY, PLAY and STAY on the same page, and
- Respond to the Home Activity question on the last page.

Lead participants in a group discussion about the benefits of spending One-on-One Time with their children. Useful questions include:

- Why would you want to have a positive relationship with your child?
- How would spending One-on-One Time help you develop a positive relationship with your child?
- How would your child benefit from the One-on-One Time with you? What would s/he learn?

Write down parents' ideas and praise them for sharing.

Here are some benefits of spending one-on-one time with your child to guide the discussion:

- Children feel that they are valuable and loved.
- Shows your child that you think that what they are doing is important.
- Helps children feel safe and secure.
- Builds language and observation skills.
- Builds learning skills and problem-solving.
- Increases trust and improves communication with you and your child.
- Helps children develop and explore the world.
- Shows your child that you are present and focused on what the child is doing.

- Children become more willing to help around the house.
- Parents/caregivers feel like their hard work in the house is more valued.
- Listening carefully to children and valuing their ideas encourages them to think for themselves and take the lead.
- Gives you a chance to learn a lot about your child's interests and abilities.

Tip:

The list above is just a suggestion. It is okay if they do not identify all of them. They may also provide other reasons to why One-on-One Time would improve their behaviour and development. That's great!

Discussion: Activities to Do with Your Child (5 min)

Overview

This group discussion will help parents identify possible activities they can do with their children during One-on-One Time.

It can be challenging for parents to know what to do with their children – especially if there is only a little time to spend with their children or they do not have a good relationship with their children.

Instructions \(Slide 17\)

Ask parents to think of activities that they could do with their child. These could be things that they know their child likes to do.

Allow parents to first share in pairs. Each pair should come up with at least 3 different activities that they can do with their children.

Allow parents to talk in pairs for about a minute or two. Then share in a big group. Write the suggestions on the flipchart!

Possible activities may include:

- Playing with a ball or doll if the child has one.
- Dressing up in fun clothes or in adult clothes
- Hide and seek – outside.
- Shopping game in the house
- Jigsaw puzzles

- Singing a song together
- Telling a story
- Encouraging the child to tell a story.
- Doing the laundry together

Tip:

Activities will be different for different age groups and in different ethnic and religious groups. Make sure that the suggestions are relevant to your parents!

Practising Skills (15 min)

Overview

DAY, PLAY, and STAY

This is the first group practice when parents practise what they will be asked to do during Home Activities.

Group Practices allow parents to try out their home activities in the safe environment of the group. Parents/caregivers also have the opportunity to act in roles as “parents” and “children.”

Being the child in a practice helps parents see the world through their child’s eyes.

Tip:

If any of your parents have a child with disabilities, make sure the group practices include a child with disabilities.

Instructions (Slide 18)

Format for leading the group practice:

1. Introduction

- Introduce that parents are now going to practise allowing their children to take the lead and saying what they see during One-on-One Time.
- Explain that practising now will make it easier to do the activities at home, especially since Letting Your Child Lead and Say What You See are new skills.
- Explain that everyone will get a chance to practise new skills before using them at home.

2. Group Practice

- Choose a participant to be the “Parent” and another to be the “Child”.
- Be specific about the age of the “Child”. Tell the parent who is pretending to be the “Child” that they should be well behaved during the role-play.
- The Parent should introduce One-on-One Time to his/her child by saying the following words: “I have 5 minutes to spend One-on-One Time with you, what would you like to do?”
- The Child should give a simple suggestion: “Let’s play with my toy”.
- The Parent practices using words to describe what the Child is doing while following the Child’s lead.
- Stay physically close to the Parent to give support if necessary. You may need to whisper words that the Parent can use to describe what the child is doing.
- The Parent may need extra support in allowing the Child to be the leader in the activity. Be like a guardian angel!
- Allow the practice to happen no more than 1 minute (even 30 seconds is enough time).
- The important thing is to give the Parent the opportunity to follow the Child’s actions and to use some of the skills they have learned.
- Ask the parents who practised about what their experience felt like both as a Child and as a Parent.
- Praise both parents enthusiastically for being the first to do a Practice!

3. Practice in Pairs

- Divide parents into pairs and ask them to practise letting the child take the lead during One-on-One Time.
- Each person should practise both the role of the parent and of the child. Remind the children to behave well!
- Both facilitators should move around the room helping parents out.
- Tell parents to switch roles after about one minute each. Bring the group back together for a discussion.
- Ask for feedback from each pair in a group discussion on how the practice went.

Tip:

Five Common Mistakes Parents Make During One-on-One Time and how to support parents:

1. Parents ask questions instead of describing

- What's happening:

Parents often ask questions like "What are you doing?" instead of using descriptive language.

- What to encourage:

Gently remind parents to use simple words to describe what their child is doing, e.g., "You're building a tall tower!" This builds connection and supports language development.

Tip: Use modelling during group discussion. Say: "Let's try describing instead of asking—how would that sound?"

2. Parents forget to go down to their child's level

- What's happening:

Parents may talk or play from above rather than getting physically close to their child.

- What to encourage:

Help parents feel comfortable kneeling, sitting, or lying down to match their child's height. This creates warmth and shows the child they are seen and valued.

Tip: During role play, demonstrate the difference and how it feels for the child.

3. Parents forget to tell their child they are having 5 minutes of One-on-One time

- What's happening:

Parents may engage in play but don't make it clear that this is their special One-on-One time.

- What to encourage:

Remind parents to say it clearly: "This is our 5 minutes of One-on-One time." It helps the child feel special and builds routine.

Tip: Suggest using the phrase as a simple routine to begin One-on-One time.

4. Parents forget to give a transition warning before One-on-One time ends

- What's happening:

Children may feel upset when play ends suddenly.

- What to encourage:

Coach parents to give a gentle warning, like "We have one more minute, then One-on-One time is over." This helps children learn to manage endings better.

Tip: Emphasize that this small habit prevents meltdowns and helps build emotional resilience.

5. Parents forget to thank or praise their child after One-on-One time

- What's happening:

Parents end playtime without any positive closure.

- What to encourage:

Invite parents to end One-on-One time by thanking or praising their child, e.g., "I really enjoyed playing with you," or "You shared your toys so nicely today."

Tip: Remind parents that these words reinforce positive behaviour and strengthen bonds.

Tips and Home Activity (5 min)

Instructions (Slides 19-20)

Tips for Spending One-on-One Time

Review the following tips for One-on-One Time with your child with the parents:

1. DAY: Set aside a specific time to spend One-on-One Time with your child each day.

- Choose a time when you are unlikely to be interrupted and when your child does not have something else that they want to do, like watching TV or playing with smartphones. Switch off the television and put away smartphones.
- Tell your child that you would like to watch them play and that they can choose what to do. Your child might think this is weird at first but gradually will come to enjoy having this dedicated time with you!

2. PLAY: Try to do something different than watching TV or playing with a tablet/phone.

- This is a lot more useful and enjoyable for your child than just sitting together in front of the television or playing with a smartphone.
- Sometimes, it may be just enough to watch your child's favourite TV programme with him/her. They may feel comfortable doing other activities with time.

3. STAY: Give your child all your attention.

- Make sure that you will not be distracted by other children or other responsibilities so that you can give all your attention to your child.
- Give as few instructions or directions as possible. When you are spending One-on-One Time with your child, s/he or she should lead the activity.
- Listen to what your child is saying and watch them.
Listening to your child is more important than talking to them at this time. If your child asks a question, you can answer, but do not let them put you in a position of telling them what to do. Put the choice back to the child: "That is an interesting question, what do you think?"
- Reflect what your child says to you.
Repeat back what your child says when s/he speaks to you. You can use different words to show that you are really listening to your child. E.g., Child, "This math problem is really hard." Parent, "Yeah, I see that you are finding it difficult."
- Make only positive comments and avoid critical comments.
Remember this is your child's activity. Can you think how you have felt recently when someone has been critical of you? There is no right or wrong during One-on-One Time. Your job is to show an interest and say something nice.

Home Activity

The Home Activity for the module is to spend at least 5 to 15 minutes of One-on-One time with your child each day. Make sure that each parent has identified a specific course for his/herself for One-on-One Time. Make sure they go home knowing the following:

- Where will they spend One-on-One Time with their child?
- When will they spend One-on-One Time with their child?
- What types of activities could they do during One-on-One Time with their child?

Write each parent's home activity on a large piece of paper.

Activity 5. Closing (10 min)

Reflection (5 min)

Overview

Reflect with parents on any specific areas of the Naungan Kasih Program that require support.

Encourage parents by using open ended questions, like, "Is there anything specific about using the Naungan Kasih App that you'd like to know more about?" or "What are your initial thoughts on participating in the WhatsApp Support Groups?"

To respond to parents' questions, offer clear and concise information. Provide step-by-step guidance if necessary.

Instructions \(Slide 21\)

Ask the parents if they have any questions about:

- Using Naungan Kasih App
 - Participating in the WhatsApp Support Groups. Remind the participants that you would be sharing prompts for discussion later in the week.
 - Spending One-on-One Time with their child
 - Home Activity

Identifying the Next Course in Naungan Kasih App (3 min)

Instructions \(Slide 22\)

- Explain to the parents that they selected their first course, Relationship with My Child, and completed the first skill, One-on-One Time.
 - In the upcoming days, they will complete the remaining skills within this course on Naungan Kasih App. Once all 5 skills are accomplished, they can then choose their next parenting course.
 - Ask the parents to think about which course would they like to practice next.
 - Reassure participants that it may take some time for them to realise their goals. Encourage them to continue to interact with Naungan Kasih App, participate in WhatsApp Support Group, and do home activities!

Goodbye Activity (2 min)

Overview

Close with a goodbye activity. Allow participants to decide how they would like to end the session. This may be a prayer or a group clap.

Instructions \(Slide 25\)

Remind the participants to:

- Complete their home activities.
- Begin their next Naungan Kasih course.
- Sharing their experiences and challenges on the WhatsApp Support Group.

Thank participants for the commitment they have made to each other by coming to the group!

After the Session

For more information, please refer to 4.2 Online Support Group Management.

4.2 Online Support Group Management

After the Onboarding Session, you will provide support to parents through Online Support Group sessions via WhatsApp.

This is done with the help of FaciNK—your digital companion!

Mark Your Dates and Time

1. Decide the dates and times you will send your messages for all remaining sessions in the following weeks of the programme.
2. Mark these dates on your calendar and set reminders, so you remember to deliver them!

Share Weekly Chat Sessions

1. Download the App to learn how to conduct these sessions.
 2. Look for the “Chat Sessions” section on FaciNK homepage.
 3. You will see the 5 weekly chat sessions:
 - After Onboarding Session
 - Week 2: Check-in
 - Week 4: Check-in
 - Week 6: Check in
 - Week 8: Final Chat Session
 4. Share messages “After Onboarding Session” on the same day or day after the in-person onboarding session.
 5. Share the messages for Week 2, Week 4, Week 6, and Week 8 during the respective week.
 6. Here is how to share the messages:
 - Locate the “Share” icon. It has three connected dots forming a sideways “V” shape.
- Click on the “Share” icon.
 - In the menu that appears, select “WhatsApp” as your sharing option. Choose your Naungan Kasih Support Group from the list.

- Before you hit the “Send” button, make sure to add any necessary information.
- Finally, click the “Send” button to share the content with your Naungan Kasih Support Group.

Reporting Attendance

As a facilitator, you need to report attendance of your parents after in-person session and WhatsApp sessions.

Here is how you do it:

- Select the pencil icon from the bottom navigation bar.
- Select whether you are reporting on an in-person or WhatsApp session with your parents.
- Complete the report.
- In case you want to edit the report:
 - Select the pencil icon from the bottom of the navigation bar.
 - Select whether the session you want to edit was an in-person or WhatsApp session.
 - Select the session that you want to edit.
 - Your previous selections will appear. You can now edit your selections and select “Save”.

Appendix

Appendix A. Journey of Naungan Kasih in Malaysia

Who developed Naungan Kasih?

Naungan Kasih was developed through collaboration between many partners, including:

- Community Development Department (KEMAS) in the Ministry of Rural and Regional Development
- Universiti Putra Malaysia (UPM)
- Malaysian National Population and Family Development Board (LPPKN) in the Ministry of Women, Family and Community Development
- Malaysian Association of Social Workers (MASW)
- University of Oxford
- UNICEF Malaysia
- IDEMS International
- Parenting for Lifelong Health (PLH)

In 2020, Parenting for Lifelong Health (PLH) collaborated with LPPKN, UPM, UNICEF, and IDEMS International to adapt its in-person programmes in response to restrictions placed on in-person parenting programmes during the COVID-19 pandemic and challenges reported by implementing partners in delivering programmes at scale in low-resource settings. One such PLH adaptation is ParentApp (called Naungan Kasih in Malaysia), an app designed for parents of children aged 0-17 years, or in the case of Naungan Kasih, parents with children between 2 to 9 years old.

How was Naungan Kasih developed?

Naungan Kasih was developed through extensive cultural adaptation, user-testing, and piloting with parents and service providers, including in Malaysia with LPPKN, UPM, and UNICEF. Its main programme content was derived from the Naungan Kasih in-person programme as well as other PLH programmes. Additional content has been included to support mental health, educational, gender-based violence, and gender transformative outcomes.

What does Naungan Kasih include?

The app is built around eight positive parenting courses, each supported by learning modules that use comics, videos, and text illustrating key parenting tips. Naungan Kasih also provides resources, such as play activities and safeguarding resources. After completing the first course, “Relationship with My Child,” parents can choose the order in which to tackle the remaining courses.

Why not only a digital approach?

Naungan Kasih is delivered through a hybrid approach because while fully in-person programmes can be highly effective, they are resource-intensive to deliver at scale. By integrating digital tools, Naungan Kasih is able to reduce the time and effort required from facilitators and parents and reduce costs for the system to deliver at scale.

Appendix B: Facilitator Training Workshop

Tips for the Training

Online Sessions

To help you get the most out of your Naungan Kasih facilitator training, please follow these guidelines.

Before the Training

- Use a laptop or tablet when possible, as they provide better visibility and access to interactive features compared to phones.
- Check that your internet, camera, and microphone are working prior to the session.
- Login at least 10 minutes before the start time.
- Prepare all necessary materials (e.g., notebook, pen, worksheets).
- Join from a quiet, comfortable location to minimise distractions.

During the Training

- Keep your camera on when possible to encourage active engagement and an interactive learning environment.
- Mute your microphone when not speaking.
- Use the chat for questions and responses, unless instructed otherwise.
- Participate actively and respectfully in sessions.
- Be respectful and attentive towards other participants.
- Remove any distractions during the session.
- Breaks will be provided at scheduled intervals. Kindly return promptly at the end of the break. If you must step away, please inform the trainer via the chat.

Self-Learning

Learning is most effective when you feel supported. As you work through the materials, don't hesitate to reach out to trainers or peers for support or clarification.

Self-learning isn't just about completing the modules on your own—it's also a valuable opportunity to deepen your understanding of the programme and its key concepts.

In-Person Session
